p. 172

The other points occupied in the Hokkaido are Sapporo and Otaru. More than 100 pupils have been registered in the Sapporo girls' school; three of them have been baptized. Miss Smith writes:

Two pupils left school, their after-stated reason being that they feared they might become weak and learn to shed tears during chapel exercises, as they saw several girls doing one morning and many the other morning of the two days they attended.

The Sunday-school has been under Miss Wells' care.
